TURNIP THE BEETS, IT'S DELTA EATS!

SUPPORTED BY DELTA HEALTH ALLIANCE

SANDERS ELEMENTARY

HERE'S WHAT WE'RE SOWING,
GROWING, KNOWING, AND SHOWING...

The garden is missing a lot of laughter these days, but is still growing strong. Beds planted by students up until the last week of school have helped feed Hollandale families the whole spring, via bouquets delivered to homes and food pantries.

Carrots planted by Brook'Lynn Wilson, Jermarion Richardson, Lorenzo Graham, and Jacoby Alexander

Mustard greens planted by Jadarica Gadison, Aubrey Prince, Ke'asia Prince, Ja'Kayla Hogan, Kaitlyn Pam, and Dylan Rhodes

Potatoes planted by Demaricia Cooks, Jazaria Madison, Taliya Byrd, Decameron Martin, and Freddie Robinson (with some help from Supt. Willis)

If you are in need of free fresh food assistance:

We'll deliver bouquets of fresh produce from the school garden to you as regularly as we can, usually every 1-3 weeks.

Delivery contents change from week to week based on what's ready in the garden, and you can fill out a quick survey to let us know what you like.
